It is on this point that negotiations between Greece and the entente allies are now proceeding and the feeling here and at Paris and at Rome is given briefly in the following printed in large type by The Ev-

While retiring from southern Ser-bia the allied forces have been given effective assistance by the Montenegrins and Serbians who fled into Albania. This is shown in the resistance which both the Serbians and the Montenegrins are offering the invaders. The Montenegrins have been fighting a series of rear guard actions and delivering counter-attacks which the Austrians admit seriously delayed their advance. The Austrians are now attempting a new advance from the region of Barani, west of Ipek.

Scrbians Still Showing Activity. The Serbians, who are now receiving supplies from the Adriatic coast, are still showing activity. The Italians also have reinforced the garrison at Alvona, from which place they are sending relief to the Serbians coming from Ochrida Lake district. Russians Dispersed Rebels.

There is no further news from Mesopotamia, where, according to last counts, the Turks were attacking Kut-el-Amara and had actually reached a point on the river below that town but the success of the Russians in dis-persing a band of Persian rebels under German and Turkish officers at Sultan Bulak Pass on the road to Hamadan, it is believed, will ease the situation in that part of the world. Much activity is reported on Gallipoli penisula, where it is report ed, fresh German artillery is arriv-ing; and on the Isonzo front, where the Italians have gained more ground in the direction of Gorizia. Along other fronts no important changes have kept up cries of "Peace! Peace!" and

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH AUSTRIA ARE STRAINED.

Officials Preserve Silence, But Crisis is Grave.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Diplomatic relations with Austria are in grave danger of being broken off over the sinking of the Italian liner Ancona with the loss of American lives. All officials here continue to preserve silence over the negotiations with Austria, but through the veil which has been drawn around the situation is seen a crisis just as grave as that which attended the submarine nego-tlations with Germany.

The question of breaking diplomatic relations may be said to depend upon a satisfactory reply to Secretary Lan-sing's note, which now probably is be-lore the Vienna foreign office, demanding a disavowal of the sinking of the London, Dec. 10.—Sail

No Question But What It Pays

It makes little difference what the line of business is it is susceptible to the influence of publicity if it is wisely used. It wasn't only a half dozen years ago that pineapples brought into this country from the Pacific were so small in amount that they were not even listed in the government reports. An opportunity was seen for development and thirteen of the leading producers formed an association for adver tising their goods.

The next year the amount of such produce brought into this coun was valued at a million and a half. That has grown steadily until in 1913 the sum total of such importations reached over three and a half million. The business had more than doubled in four years because of the persistent and thorough manner in which advertising had been resorted to.

It is a similar story to that which can be told of many other business development. Printer's ink rightly used and used where it reaches the people insures results. That is the kind of service The Bulletin renders because of the thorough manner in which it covers its field. It should be used consistently at all times. FEDERAL JURISDICTION OVER RAILROAD QUESTIONS Favored by Howard Elliott, President of the New Haven Road.

Boston, Dec. 10 .- Federal jurisdiction over "some of the larger railroad questions" which are now under au-thority of state commissions or legislatures was favored by Howard Elliott, president of the New York, New Haven and Hariford railroad, when he closed the company's case in connec-tion with the inquiry of the public temporary government and took first service commission into the New Hatemporary government and took first steps toward securing a city charter. A commission was elected to have charge of municipal affairs until the meeting of the Virginia legislature next month, the earliest date at which a charter could be ratified.

> After F. A. Farnham, counsel for the road, had made a plea for valida-tion by this state of the road's record in the past, President Elliott urged upon the commission the expediency of abandoning any further restrictive powers which might be contemplated and said that no additional penalties should be imposed for the violation of any laws now on the books.

> Mr. Elliott advocated an extension in the powers of railroad companies, permitting them to acquire securities of leased lands and to purchase the stock or securities of any company "if the public service commission finds purchase to be in the public in-
